

Hello

I saw something friends of mine told me I should report to someone. I know I can't tell the person in charge around here because I think he's in on it too.

I had my dog in the back of the truck and we stopped on a gravel road ^West of Elma one night 2 weeks ago or so around 8 and my dog jumped out and I had to chase after him in the mud. He ran on landfill property on the east side when I saw something that didn't seem right. I've seen their lagoon before when I've gone there. There's a lagoon of nasty water that comes from the garbage. There was a big guy there at the lagoon, and he standing and watching the water pump out of the lagoon overhead into a semi trailer. But there was a big outlet hose on the back of the semi that ran toward a waterway and the valve was open because I could see black water running out the hose over the edge of the bank into the water way. The lagoon water was basically running directly into the water way but they were using the semi as a way to get it there. The guy didn't look our direction and I had caught my dog and we went off to the truck and left.

I told a few people and they said that isn't right. They said the guy working at the landfill is close friend to the board chairman Joel Voaklander and that the worker (my friends said by my description he had to be Derek Huffman) got 3 people fired from the landfill last fall, that Voaklander does whatever Huffman wants. I didn't go to Voaklander because I know what he does to people that cross him. But I don't think they're supposed to be pumping that nasty water into a waterway. From what I could tell that waterway ran into a pond, and the pond that night was running right into the ditch and into the field on the other side of the road.

I just thought someone should know. But I can't sign my name or Voaklander will do shit to me too.
