The Mississippi is high, but no flooding so far.

It only took CP 2 years to clean up their mess, but alls well that ends well.

Excellent. Your email prompted me to open my draft email folder, and there I found, the email i meant to send you last week, indicating that i'll reach back out to CP. Truth be told however, staging old ties vs dumping them, is two completely different beasts to deal with. It'd be way easier for me to require cleanup if they were clearly improperly disposed of.....whereas staging them along the tracks really isn't something DNR regulations can address. So i am pleased to hear you got some relief.

On another note, how high is the Miss River getting there in Clinton? It is causing any flooding issues? It's been several weeks since i've been in Clinton.

Amazingly, the Canadian Pacific just removed the giant piles of ties from in front of our home. Thanks for your help in this process.
