Grundy Electric celebrates National Co-op Month

Being part of a cooperative means being part of something special. Grundy Electric Cooperative is celebrating National Cooperative Month in October, along with 40,000 other cooperative businesses serving more than 120 million people nationwide.

"Cooperatives Build" is the theme of this year's National Cooperative Month. "This year's theme is excellent, because there are so many ways that cooperatives help to build a stronger rural America," says GEC Manager Scott Wilson.

Cooperatives build trust. Most co-ops strive to adhere to seven key cooperative principles, which combine to help build trust between the co-op, its members and the community. For example, the first principle is Voluntary and Open Membership, which means that we are a voluntary organization open to all people to use our services and willing to accept the responsibility of membership. The second principle, Democratic Member Control, gives members a voice in the cooperative's policies and decisions. Through the fifth principle, Education, Training and Information, we enable members to contribute to the development of our cooperative.

Members of the Laplander's Quilt Guild made a quilt to give to the house at the Round Barn site. They picked a pattern called "Hole in the Barn Door" and chose kind of old timey fabric. We sewed up the blocks and set them together. The quilt was machine quilted by member Doris Randolph and presented to the board of the Round Barn. The quilt will be displayed in an upstairs bedroom that was painted to go with the quilt's background color. A dresser scarf of the same pattern is already in place. Shown above are, first row, left to right: Doris Randolph, Nancy Hamar and David Wampler. Middle row: Joan Byrns, Norma Bettis, Shirley Alshouse and Jean Wampler. Back row: Milo Bettis, Bill Byrns and Ralph Alshouse.
